

UNINETTUNO: New E-learning training project successful

On 21 January, the new e-learning training project named "Reporting climate change and sustainable development" on Uninettuno's e-learning platform was finished successfully. The first edition of the multilingual (English and Arabic) e-learning training program gathered 21 students from 9 different countries to participate in the program, which contained a high level of education sharing across different cultures, approaches, and experiences.